

Minneapolis hip hop group iLLism plays by their own rules when it comes to their sound. With their captivating narratives and melodic flows, the dynamic husband and wife duo continue to blaze their own path, refusing to chase music's ever changing trends or compromise who they are as artists. Using their creativity as a tool to speak their truth, iLLism's music bares the souls of songstress Fancy and rapper Envy.

iLLuminate, the long awaited second full length studio album is a reflection of their personal and musical journeys. With songs like, Who You Lovin, Life, Bet and Make Love to Me the duo evoke a passion and emotions that listeners all over the globe can connect with.

iLLism's sound has always been musically robust. With the help of their live band as well as awarded producers, iLLuminate not only captures the Minneapolis sound made famous by Prince, they push it forward by adding their own originality. "This album is us in full music form. It's our blood, sweat, tears and heartbeats. That's how special it is," the duo says. "It's therapeutic. It's a release. It's a celebration. It's everything hip hop is supposed to be. We may be biased but we listen to it everyday."
